Your role

As a senior corporate and M&A lawyer, you will advise Belgian and international clients on a broad range of corporate and transactional matters.

Your work will include:

- corporate law and governance matters;
- M&A;
- corporate restructurings;
- shareholder relations and strategic advisory work;
- corporate disputes and conflict management.

You will work directly with clients, take ownership of matters and contribute actively to the further growth of the practice and the firm. You will also support and mentor junior lawyers and contribute to the development of our team.

Your profile

You combine strong legal expertise with sound judgement, professional maturity and genuine team spirit. You:

- hold a Master's degree in Law;
- have at least 7 years of experience in corporate law and M&A;
- possess strong technical expertise and drafting skills;
- translate complex legal questions into pragmatic advice;
- are fluent in Dutch and English;
- have a good knowledge of French or are willing to further develop it;
- communicate confidently with clients, counterparties and advisers;
- enjoy taking ownership and working independently;
- are willing to share knowledge and support junior colleagues;
- combine ambition with a practical and collaborative mindset.

An LL.M. degree or international study experience is an asset.

What we offer

At contrast, we believe excellent legal work should be intellectually challenging, practically relevant and enjoyable to do.

In addition to the opportunities outlined above, we offer:

- Personalised career path tailored to your ambitions and strengths
- Competitive remuneration package aligned with your experience
- Continuous legal and soft skills training
- Support for professional development initiatives
